a quilter's expression

with Brigitte Ammann

Quilting is Brigitte's textile starting point. The method influences her sense of aesthetics and defines her way of working with fabric. The elaborate completion of a quilt literally stands for "life stories", which often is pointed out when examining antique American quilts. Depicting deep meaning in works that are created by a multitude of connected textile pieces is Brigitte's intention. "A perfect means of expression", says the textile artist from the Netherlands, who lives in Amsterdam and Albstadt, Germany.

On the one hand, Brigitte's conscious intention is to pay respect to the traditional technique of quilt artisan work. Simultaneously her quilts are her very personal reflections of "multi-layered, varied and splashy worlds of ideas". Her private thoughts are transmitted in a kind of subconscious, compulsive textile gesture. Brigitte dyes her fabrics in order to give the works her own signature. To gain new insights and expressions she also experiments with foreign materials and unknown techniques. Brigitte feels that her American quilting-tutors, especially Nancy Crow, have furthered her knowledge in "understanding quilts".

Brigitte's talk on textile art, role models and inspirations will be in German. Workshop-talks are non-conform, laid-back events in a creative studio-atmosphere. If needed, Nanna will gladly assist with a simultaneous English-interpretation. There is ample time for Q& A and net-working.

The entrance fee of ?10 includes a drink, snacks and the talk. Please sign up by paying the fee per Paypal. Registration by email to info@nannatextiles.de is also possible. The door to the studio-workshop opens at 6:15 pm. Everyone is most welcome, also short-notice quilt-fans.
