"Program -> Creativity & Culture" possible.

In theory and practice we discover a technique from Japan. Both historical and cultural backgrounds, as well as explanations of practical exercises, we will explore on the basis of graphs. There should be enough space and time to do the exercises at your own pace. Technology does not overwhelm anyone and promotes creativity and concentration.

A "finished product" is not in the foreground. To make the torn knee of the jeans or to complete a hole in the estimated sweater, are examples of implementation. It is possible to create a Japan stitch archive.
